ESSANAY BUILDING FREED FROM LITIGATION

RESIDENT OF MISSION SAN JOSE INSTANTLY KILLED AT TRAIN CROSSING TUESDAY

Theodore Souza Second Victim of Untimely Accident in Family.

Theodore Souza, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Souza, of Mission San Jose, was almost instantly killed when the car in which he was driving was struck by a Southern Pacific passenger train at the Southern Pacific crossing on the Pleasanton-Livermore highway at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Souza was enroute from Pleasanton to Livermore to return a Hudson car borrowed from a friend, A. Sylverio, of Livermore. Death was almost instantaneous, several broken ribs puncturing his lungs, internal bleeding following.

Deceased, who was a Hetch-Hetchy employe at the Alameda camp, had been visiting with his mother, Mrs. Manuel Souza, who is lying seriously ill at her Mission San Jose home.

The body was taken in charge by Deputy Coroner Charles Graham, of Pleasanton, and removed later Tuesday evening to his home. Funeral services have not yet been arranged. He also leaves a sister, Viola Souza.

Brother Also Killed Recently.

Harold Souza, 19, brother of deceased, also met death as the result of an accident on April 1, when a heavy wrench struck him on the head while working on a well between Decoto and Centerville, death resulting from a fractured skull.

Both boys, killed in accidents while in their prime of life, had been residents of Mission San Jose for many years, and leave a host of friends throughout Washington township.

HIGHWAY PATROL OFFICIAL TENDERS SPLENDID ADVICE

Parking, Speeding Laws In Niles Discussed at Meeting

Following a conference held on Tuesday, June 23, between A. J. Petsche, secretary of the Niles Chamber of Commerce, and Elmer Steinmeyer, district inspector of the state highway patrol, many excellent suggestions were laid before members of the Niles civic body at their weekly luncheon meeting held Tuesday noon, relative to parking and speeding ordinances, and their enforcement in Niles.

Much discussion has taken place during the past few weeks in an effort to lesson the risks to both pedestrians and motorists in the bottle-neck on the main highway in front of the post office building. Steinmeyer strongly supported the idea of painting parallel parking marks in this particular block, and also suggested that the signs be also painted clear through town, on the business side of the street, and that diagonal parking be permitted on the opposite side, from the post office east. He also informed Mr. Petsche that it might be a good idea to enforce a parking limit.

In connection with the parking signs, Mr. Petsche informed the chamber of commerce members that according to Mr. Steinmeyer, the state highway department would be glad to co-operate and would do the necessary work entailed, but that the expense would have to be borne by the chamber of commerce or by popular subscription, because Niles, "enjoying" the distinction of being the largest unincorporated town in California, can raise money for public improvements in no other way.

It is expected that speed limit signs will be posted throughout town, enforcing a twenty-mile limit, in view of the fact that at the present time, state police officers cannot make any arrests of motorists traveling under forty miles an hour through town, Main street being a state highway, instead of a business street, under the embarrasing condition of unincorporation.

President F. V. Jones appointed Messrs. Bondy, Petsche and Kirk to serve as a committee to thoroughly investigate all angles to these questions.

HONOR RETURN OF TRAVELERS WITH DELIGHTFUL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ford, who returned recently from an extended tour of Africa and Mediteranean countries, were honored guests at an evening affair sponsored by the Toyon Branch of the Baby Hospital, and held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thane, of Niles, last evening.

Past and present members of the organization were present at the very enjoyable and interesting affair, together with husbands and friends. Those present were entertained with a very enlightening talk by Mr. Ford, who spoke of his many experiences during the several months he and his wife were traveling.

SEVERAL INJURED OVER WEEK-END IN AUTO COLLISIONS

Two Cars Collide Head-On; Another Swerves Into Telephone Pole.

Becoming confused when a car suddenly shot in front of him from the subway opposite the Schuckl cannery, Niles, at nine o'clock Sunday morning, A. Arena, of 6279 Chabot road, Oakland, swerved his car into a telephone pole, causing painful injuries to two other occupants of his car.

His ten-year-old nephew, Marion Randisi, of 697 30th street, Oakland, suffered a bad scalp laceration, and Mrs. Pollard, of 6279 Chabot road, Oakland, sustained a badly bruised right shoulder.

Arena was driving a Cadillac sedan, which was severely damaged as a result of the impact with the phone pole, which was broken in two.

Head-On Collision.

Automobiles driven by Benny Gonsalves, 24, of Hayward, and Ben Torres, 29, of Decoto, met in head-on collision on the main highway in front of the Belvoir hotel at ten o'clock Sunday morning, both men suffering painful injuries.

Gonsalves was driving north, and Torres in the opposite direction, the cause of their colliding being inexplainable by both drivers. Gonsalves suffered a severe scalp laceration, and Torres escaped with multiple bruises and cuts. Both men were driving Chevrolet cars.

All injured parties in both accidents were given treatment by Dr. E. C. Grau at his emergency hospital, Niles.

Motorcyclist Injured

Floyd Dias, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Joseph Dias, of Niles road, was taken to the home of his uncle, Frank E. Pereria, during the week-end, apparently having sustained no serious injuries from an accident which occurred Saturday, when he lost control of his motorcycle, and was thrown against a parked auto on lower "A" street, Hayward.

After treatment at the Hayward hospital he appeared to be recovering rapidly, with nothing more serious than deep cuts about the head.

TRAFFIC VIOLATION FINES NET LARGE SUM DURING WEEK

Traffic officers reaped a good harvest of violators of motor vehicle ordinances throughout Washington Township during the past seven days, fines totalling $114 for various offenses being taken in by Judge J. A. Silva, of Niles, during the period.

Tuesday was the last day that Judge Silva took care of traffic violations, and for the next six months all offenders will appear before Judge Allen G. Norris, of Centerville. Each judge takes turns in handling traffic cases.

Rose Garages Announce Several New Policies

Ed. Rose, owner of a string of garages throughout Washington Township, announces an additional service to motorists that should prove of exceptional interest. Beginning this week, a policy of car washing at a uniform flat rate of $1.00 per car is to be commenced. This work will only be done at the Niles garage.

A complete grease job for $1.00 will also be available at any of the Rose garages, located at Niles, Centerville and Irvington.

EARLY HOME OF MOVIES PASSES INTO HANDS OF PROMINENT NILES MAN

FOLLOWING more than seven years litigation, dispute and controversy, the Essanay building, Niles, more familiarly known throughout northern California as former headquarters for the Essanay Film Manufacturing Company, Inc., and in former years the scene of bustling activity when moving pictures were still in their swaddling clothes, and "talkies" were unheard of, has finally become the property of Ed Rose, well-known throughout Washington township, who obtained a clear deed to the property last Friday morning.

The property was formerly held jointly in the names of Ed Rose and the firm of Jones and Ellsworth, who purchased the building when it was sold at auction for delinquent taxes. Rose and Jones and Ellsworth experienced a great deal of difficulty in establishing their legal ownership due to several posthumous claims, but after many years of legal wrangling, a clear title was finally obtained, and Rose purchased the interests of Jones and Ellsworth, and is now the sole legal owner.

Fascinating History.

Way back around 1908, long before Hollywood was even thought of as the moving picture center of the world, J. Anderson, widely known for a reputation later gained in the world-renowned role of "Bronco Billy," in partnership with J. Spoor, of Chicago, as his financial backer, began making "movies" in Washington township .... those wild and wooly one- and two-reel westerners that strangely elated and stirred the hearts of grown-ups as well as the then younger generation.

Difficulty was experienced by Anderson and Spoor, and in order to assist them in their endeavers, citizens of Niles subscribed $100 and purchased a barn, used as the film company's first "studio." Joe Oliver's garage now stands on the site of that barn.... verily the "cradle" of the moving picture industry ....an industry that has grown from an initial public-spirited donation of $100 into one involving millions upon millions of dollars.

It was in this barn that such famous stars as Charles Chaplin, Ben Turpin, "Bronco Billy' to mention but a few received their primary lessons in entertaining the public via the screen. Their antics, their troubles, and their friendships still provide subject for pleasant reveries among the older residents of the township. Some of the movie men married local girls, and when the moving picture industry progressed, took them to Hollywood. Several are still prominent..... some famous as the result of the meteoric growth of the "cinema".... but the memories of their early struggles and hardships are probably still fresh in their minds!

Industry Prospers

Later, as the moving picture industry grew and prospered, it

WELL KNOWN FIRM WILL MOVE INTO NEW STORE

Hellwig Meat company, formerly known as the Hellwig & LaGrave Meat company, will occupy new quarters Monday, when they will welcome customers and friends in their new location in the Ellsworth building, corner of Main and I streets, Niles, formerly occupied by Mike Hadad's department store.

The deal was consummated late last week, and employees of the company will effect the change from their present store to the new location on Saturday and Sunday, being open ready for business on Monday, without having inconvenienced any of their patrons.

G. P. Hellwig and V. LaGrave recently dissolved partnership when LaGrave announced his intention of retiring from active business participation.

Duarte's market will also move into the same location later in the month.

The building now occupied by the Hellwig store will be taken over by a branch of the Sprouze-Reitz five and ten cent stores some time in July.

CANNERY CLOSES APRICOT RUN THURSDAY

Following a run of thirteen days canning apricots, the Schuckl cannery, Niles, closed down Thursday afternoon, and will not re-open until the peach season commences. Latest reports received at the plant indicate that operations on peach canning will commence around the middle of July, but the exact date depends entirely on the weather up to that time.

The peach crop to be used at the local plant will be obtained from Sacramento valley, and it is anticipated that work will be provided for several hundred people until the latter part of September, an approximate run of two months. It is also thought that the pay for employees will rate a little higher for peaches than for cots.

Following the close of peach canning, the plant will re-open on fruit salad canning.

No local cots were used by the Schuckl cannery during the season just finished, all crops being obtained from San Joaquin valley.

A pleasant fishing trip was spent over the week-end on Yuba River by Mrs. Joe Oliver and son, Leo, of Niles; Mr. and Mrs. George Cox and Elmer Cox, of Niles, and Weldon Brown, of Oakland. Mr. Cox and Mr. Oliver report a good catch of trout

EDITORIAL COMMENT

MAKE THE EAGLE SCREAM

WHEN the writer was a young man, Fourth of July had a little different meaning from that it has today. Hardly a town or village was so small that the occasion was not celebrated, and was not the patriotic foregathering place for people of surrounding rural districts.

Fourth of July in the yesterday of our life was opened at about 4:30 a. m. with an anvil charge of gun-powder that awakened the town and country-side. As a lad, we were awake long before that early hour and had repaired, with other boys, to the city square to see the opening ceremony of the day. After the sunrise salute, we reluctantly returned home for breakfast, though sore in need of a morning meal after an hour or two of patriotic energy.

The older people will well remember how the good, and in those days strict and respected, parent insisted that the children old enough to understand a little of history, listen respectfully and quietly while the leading orator of the district expounded the events leading up to the War of the Revolution, and the signing of the Declaration of Independence, which event transpired July 4, 1776. At least an hour and a half was given to serious thought on that event so pregnant with political progression throughout the world, when the idea of political liberty was born—a tenet that in the following century took root in every civilized nation. We were young, and serious things did not penetrate as deeply as in later years, yet the youth of twenty years ago learned to appreciate what the Fathers of the Revolution had done for us and all mankind. We were warned to guard this precious heritage, and oppose with all our might the attempts that would constantly be made by special privilege classes to nullify or alter the blessings of democracy.

Today, how different!

Next Saturday the Fourth of July will be celebrated perhaps in one town or city out of ten. The celebration will consist of a rodeo exhibition or a bathing beauty parade. Millions of Americans will go away for the day in their cars, and if the younger generation has any real knowledge of why the Fourth of July is a national holiday, it will not be the fault of the program committees sponsoring celebrations for the occasion.

Wealth, ease, luxury, and the mental laziness that follows a soft life, is responsible for the gross ignorance displayed by younger people of today of the struggle and sacrifice that made possible this great nation of ours. The battle for Democracy was not over when Washington's continental army whipped the Red Coats of King George, despotic

AWARDS ARE MADE IN BEAUTIFICATION OF NILES GARDENS

Fortunate Winners Receive Prizes for Earnest Efforts.

Marking the close of the garden beautification contest sponsored by the Niles Chamber of Commerce, cash prizes were awarded to eight fortunate winners during the past week, according to an announcement made by E. Dixon Bristow, at the meeting of the civic body Tuesday noon.

The judges, in deciding the winners, took into primary consideration the improvement that had been noted during the past few months, in view of the fact that the contest was sponsored mainly for the purpose of making more beautiful gardens that needed attention. According to W. B. Kirk, a member of the committee in charge of the contest, gardens in Niles have never looked more beautiful and more neat than they do at the present time, and his words are strongly supported by a stroll around the residential district. The impression received is indeed a credit, both to the citizens of Niles and to the Chamber of Commerce.

The committee in charge of the contest was composed of E. A. Ellsworth, chairman; E. Dixon Bristow and W. B. Kirk. The majority of improvement work in gardens was done by children of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Niles Grammar school, and they are to be encouraged and congratulated upon their earnest efforts.

First award was won by Francis Hepler, while Hazel Correa and Katherine Franco divided second and third prizes, with June Flowers(a very appropriate name) Edward Manuel, Rosemary Garrity, Melvin Santos and Lupe Carderas were also awarded honors.

Powerful flood lights have recently been installed at the Western Pacific railroad crossing south of Niles.

Valuable Dogs Victims Of Poison

Little Tommy Champion, of Niles, is heartbroken! His little "Baby Dog" given him soon after he was born, and which has grown up with him, played with him, shared his troubles, happiness, misfortunes, and punishments, with dog-like affection and devotion, has been poisoned.... and six-year-old Tommy is lonely and miserable without his inseparable playmate!

And Tommy is not the only one who has lost their pet through the deviltry of a dog-hater, for two more in the immediate vicinity were found dead early Friday morning—both victims of poison. while a third dog recovered from the effects. All the animals were found between seven and eight o'clock Friday morning, and all within a block of each other!

A pedigreed police dog, valued at $250, owned by Lloyd Fournier, and a thoroughbred bob-tailed shepherd belonging to Mr. and Mrs. J. Fereria, were both ensnared or inveigled into partaking of the death-dealing tid-bits offered by the malefactor. A valuable Spitz, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Crane, partook of the poison, but responded to treatment and recovered.

That the deaths of these animals did not result from accidental causes is established by the fact that Fournier's police dog was penned up in a wire enclosure with a limited space in which to exercise. Fereria's dog was chained up in the back yard of their home, and had not been off the chain for several days. As the dogs could not possibly have annoyed or worried anybody, and were unable to roam far enough to partake of any poisonous food which may have been carelessly lying around, it is thought that somebody made it a point to offer the poison to these animals, tempting them into partaking of the death portion.

Constable Walter Ebright, of Niles, is attempting to apprehend the miscreant whose nefarious activities are arousing a storm of protest from all dog-lovers in the township.

Mrs. Florence Inman Parker Takes Prominent Part in Civic Affairs.

Mrs. Florence Inman Parker, formerly connected with the Township Register and Pleasanton Times, and well known throughout Washington township, who left here two months ago for her home in Kentucky, is now taking very active part in civic and social affairs in her home state, according to recent advices received.

Mrs. Parker recently officiated as a judge at the annual flower show of the Middlesboro Garden club, Kentucky, and her efforts were greatly lauded in the editorial and news columns of the Middlesboro Daily News. Following is an excerpt from the columns of that publication which show in part the high regard and esteem in which Mrs. Parker is held:

"Mrs. Parker, who was one of the judges in the flower show here yesterday, has more ideas in a minute than most people have in a year. We understand that she is to address the Woman's Club here Monday. By the time she gets through outlining what women can do in this town, there will be work enough to last a hundred years.

"Mrs. Parker has it on the most of us. She has been around. She has seen things. She has met people. She has sponsored movements. She has put over projects. It is fine that the women of Middlesboro have an opportunity to get some of her vision."

James Geib, of Niles, has been confined to his home for the past few days, suffering from a severe attack of influenza.

The Leslie Salts baseball team, of Alvarado, were blanked on Sunday by the Fruitvale Radios, by a score of four to nothing.

Although the Salts lost, the fans present were evidently pleased with the flossy class of ball displayed. Strike-outs and hits were very few, the longest base-hit during the entire game being a single. Both pitchers lasted the entire route and received good support.

Niles Civic Body Adjourns Throughout Vacation Period

H. H. Robinson, illuminating engineer for the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, informed members of the Niles Chamber of Commerce at their meeting Tuesday noon that it would now be possible to add more street lights through the main highway in Niles should this be considered necessary.

This matter was brought up for discussion some time ago at the chamber of commerce meeting, but through a ruling of the district attorney, it was not considered advisable to continue the project. This ruling has now been changed, according to Mr. Robinson, and nothing stands in the way of the project, should the chamber feel it necessary.

Harvey Braun, chairman of the exhibit committee for Alameda county at the state fair to be held at Sacramento in September, displayed a miniature of the booth that will represent the county, and gave a detailed talk on the many features that will be displayed. This year, the county will feature both floricultural and agricultural exhibits. Another interesting idea is the serving of tomato juice to those attending the exhibit, the juice to be obtained from local grown products. Mr. Braun stated that more than 400,000 people visited the Alameda county exhibit at the state fair last year.

Upon motion of E. E. Dias, seconded by W. Kirk, it was decided to authorize the removal of the large tree standing directly in front of the Niles fire hall. This particular matter has been before the chamber on several occasions, some of the members feeling that the tree should be allowed to stand, but after the members of the fire department, together wtih the fire commissioners, took the stand that the tree interferred with the successful operations of the department, the motion carried unanimously.

A. H. Leach, of the American Dehydrated Egg Company, an industry recently commenced at Hayward, was present Tuesday, and extended a cordial invitation for all present to attend the formal opening of his company, held last evening.

Tuesday's meeting was the last held before the adjournment for the summer, and the next meeting will be held on the first Tuesday in August.

CENTERVILLE MAN SUSTAINS PAINFUL INJURY RECENTLY

Joseph Bauhofer, owner of the Innes-Cloverdale Dairy on the Centerville-Irvington highway, is slowly recovering from the painful effects of an accident sustained two weeks ago, when he stepped into a post-holt, severely straining ligaments in his right leg. He has been unable to put his leg to much use, and it is thought it will be several more weeks before a complete healing is brought about.

Coach Jess Regli and Principal Albert J. Rathbone, of Washington Union high school, enjoyed a round of golf at Stanford University on Wednesday afternoon.

Lieut. Midtlyng, of the destroyer Hulbert, spent the week-end with Cyril Attwood. Dr. and Mrs. Wood, and Mrs. Wormell, of San Francisco, were also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Attwood.

WORK IS PROVIDED FOR MANY AT CANNERY

Several hundred people have been employed during the past two weeks at the F. E. Booth cannery, in Centerville, canning the present crop of apricots, and it is expected that work will continue for two more weeks.

All cots being canned this season at the Booth cannery are being obtained from local growers exclusively.

Following a short lull in operations at the close of the apricot season, the cannery will re-open activities on canning pears, which will be followed by tomatoes.

It is expected by officials of the company that almost continuous work will be provided for more than 400 employees until the last of October or the early part of November.

WASHINGTON HIGH GRADS UNITED AT STANFORD CHAPEL

Miss Lesda Sayles Becomes Bride of Franklin A. Brown Saturday.

One of the loveliest nuptial services of the season was performed Saturday evening, when Miss Lesda E. Sayles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sayles, of Newark, became the bride of Franklin A. Brown, also of Newark, at an evening service read in the Stanford chapel at Palo Alto.

Miss Myrtle A. Sayles, sister of the bride, made a perfectly charming maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were: Miss Mildred Sayles, Miss Florence L. Aust, Mrs. C. H. Milkelson (nee Elsa Anderson), of Stockton, and Miss Beatrice V. Taylor, of Berkeley.

Announcement of the young couple's engagement was made last summer at a dinner given in their honor by Professor and Mrs. W. H. Sloan, of Stanford University.

Miss Sayles graduated from Washington Union high school in 1922, later attending Stanford University, graduating with the class of '26, and receiving her Master of Arts degree in 1927. For the past several years she has been teaching at Washington Union high school, and will continue to do so when school reopens for the fall semester.

Brown is the son of Mrs. Joseph A. Brown and the late S. Brown, of Newark, and was a member of the graduating class of '19, W. U. H. S. He attended Stanford University and Oregon State college, graduating from the latter institution. He is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Their many friends throughout Washington township wish them every possible happiness.

Centerville Ladies Enjoy Recent Luncheon Meet

The "As-U-Like-It" club enjoyed one of their pleasant luncheons and card games at the home of Mrs. C. Emerson on Tuesday of this week. As a result of the absence of some of the members on vacation during July, the next meeting of the club will not be held until Tuesday, August 4, at the home of Mrs. H. Mosher. The highest score last Tuesday was won by Mrs. F. O. Bunting, the consolation prize by Mrs. Fisher, and the guest award to Mrs. Earle.

Reverend William and Mrs. Attwood will spend the next three or four weeks at Palo Alto.

SCHOOL BAND WILL PLAY SATURDAY AT SUNNYVALE

Washington Union high school will be represented by the school band at the Fourth of July celebration at Sunnyvale, according to announcement made Monday by J. Kimber, director of the band.

Forty students will comprise the personnel of the musical aggregation, led by Evan Orelli, of Alvarado, whose reputation as a drum major and baton swinger par excellence is rapidly growing. The students will travel to Sunnyvale in one of the W. U. H. S. buses, all expenses being paid by the Sunnyvale Fourth of July committee, including meals for the entire group.

The band has been diligently rehearsing every Friday evening for the past two months, and engaged in a special practice on Tuesday evening of this week, when selections to be played were given final polishing touches. The band will play a number of Souza marches during the parade, which commences at 1:30 o'clock. The group will leave Niles at 11 a. m., Saturday.

ST. JAMES GUILD ENJOY GOOD MEETING

The St. James Guild met with Mrs. Emerson and Mrs. Hawley as co-hostesses last week, the delightful affair being held at the home of Mrs. Emerson. The ladies were very busy during the afternoon working on holders. This was the last meeting until after the summer vacation period, the next gathering being held on September 2.

The St. James Sunday school will also take a vacation until September 6. A beautiful bronze tablet has been ordered, received and placed in Memorial Hall. Engraved on the tablet are the names of eleven who have passed on. The cost of the tablet was almost paid by the D. O. Society, which left some $65 and interest toward it. The balance was defrayed by the building fund of the hall.

The St. James church will continue to hold services every Sunday, the service last Sunday featuring singing by the Men's Club. The rendition of "There is a Beautiful City" was especially pretty, the solo part being taken by Fred Blacow.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP WILL PLAY IMPORTANT FACTOR IN STATE FAIR

Harvey Braun, of Niles, Is Named Head of Exhibit Committee.

Washington Township will play an important part in the 1931 California State Fair at Sacramento that opens September 5.

The Alameda County exhibit committee, operating under the Alameda County Development Commission, a subsidiary of the board of supervisors, will direct construction of the exhibit and also enter the various products which will come from different sections of the county.

Harvey Braun, of Niles, has been named chairman of the exhibit committee, and already has his project under way. Cooperating with Judge Ralph V. Richmond, also of Niles, who represents the supervisors on the exhibit committee, chairman Braun has contacted many growers who have indicated their willingness to enter flowers, fruits and vegetables.

A new front will be constructed at the county exhibit, this work being under the direction of Clay Myers, of Niles, who will feature a modern type of glazed tile in the construction. A large fountain will also be used in carrying out the garden scheme. The interior will represent a garden patio, artists already being at work on the exhibit.

A small cactus garden will be entered by the Thomas Cactus gardens, at Decoto, showing many rare varieties of Alameda county grown cacti and also hand-made Mexican pottery.

Charles Garrity, who has a large garden on the Niles-Mission San Jose road, is planning on a large and beautiful display of gladiolus, also dahlias, for which he is famous.

Fruits are being assembled by Joe Gomes, of Niles, while vegetables will be shown from the Centerville, Alvarado, Decoto, Lorenzo, Hayward and San Leandro regions. Grain from Livermore and flowers from San Leandro will complete the exhibit of products.

Among the well known growers assisting the committee are Charles Davis, Dr. L. Michael, John Ravekes, James Grove, E. C. Collins, Frank Cunha, Carl Roberts, W. H. Bridges, and others.

The county will feature two exhibits at the 1931 State Fair. Additional space has been provided by the state fair directors in the grand-stand building to show the county's educational exhibit. Some months ago, Chairman Braun and Supervisor Richmond made a special trip to Sacramento and secured sufficient space to show the educational exhibit, which will be adjacent to the exhibits of the various state departments. State Fair Director Ellis Franklin, of Placer county, was especially interested that Alameda county show their educational exhibit, which shows to an advantage the old Mission San Jose, known as "The Seat of Education" in Alameda county, and which was erected in 1797.

Chairman Braun announces that any grower of fruits, flowers or vegetables who is interested in having a display at Sacramento, should get in touch with him at Niles, care of the Southern Pacific company. The products will be shipped free to Sacramento, without any cost whatsoever to the grower.

Governor Rolph has issued a special plea that the citizens make the 1931 fair the most outstanding exposition of all times. 1931 is California Fiesta year, with more celebrations on record than ever before in the history of the state.

NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

ruler of England. It was not yet finished when a later contest of arms, beginning in 1812, ended triumphantly for the young Republic. Monarchy rule in Europe continued to hate the idea of representative government, and throughout the years conspired to crush the United States. During the Civil War, had these legions of autocracy dared, they would have openly espoused the cause of the South, not that the monarchies of Europe loved the Confederacy, but that they feared the growth of Democracy. Too strong even at that period to be a safe risk, should we win, these forces lent secret sympathy to the government of Jefferson Davis and from a safe vantage point prayed for the destruction of the Union.

Sweeping all forces before them, the virile Republic again was victorious, and the idea that all men were created equal, and that the right to govern is derived from the governed, lived—all over the world people in thraldom looked up into the heavens with hope rekindled for their eventual freedom, also.

Realizing, at last, the futility of opposition, crowned heads ceased to oppose us, and the reactionary forces everywhere, except in America, turned their entire energies to saving what they could out of the crumbling structure of Absolutism. But here at home, a new monarchy insidiously arose—the dynasty of the Almighty Dollar.

To this later menace, the writer would warn the young man and woman of today to be alive and on guard against. It is a real peril, not a political hallucination of radical writers and so-called bolshevik adherents. Money is supplanting the despots of other days. From day to day, its power increases due to the unfortunate fact that the general run of people themselves are avaricious and love luxury better than the wholesome things of life—the things that really bring the only lasting satisfaction to normal people. The present age worships money, and those who have great wealth are toadied to, and no question is asked as to how the wealth was accumulated. Our moral standards are low, and the smart society of the day is builded altogether on a foundation of stocks and bonds. Wealth is very nearly omnipotent. To put a man or woman in jail who has a million assets, is truly as difficult as passing a camel through the eye of a needle. We see the judiciary, parole boards, governors, and sad to say, even presidents, withering before the blight of gold.

Let us pause, then, July Fourth, one moment in our mad dash for pleasure and excitement, to contemplate the heroic deeds of our illustrious dead. Let us give heed to the words of wisdom spoken by the heroes of the Revolution. Let us recall for an instant at least that once the chains of autocracy galled our progenitors, and in a terrific struggle with the greatest nation of that day the shackles of hereditary government were broken by the valor of our ancestors. Let us not think that Democracy is secure. The foe but stands outside the gate, watching for a breach in the walls that he may storm the citidel of the people's government. The breach in that wall will come from within, and not from without. It will be made, if made at all, by wealth, growing snobbish, and, getting reckless with its power, turning with disgust from the few honest and able men, who reflecting truly the thought of constituents at home, worry incessently the governmental policy of Plutocracy. Representative government, make no mistake, seems to the growing power of money cumbersome, slow and unsatisfactory in the bold program of exploitation of the masses. They would turn to the old plan of what they feelingly call a beneficient autocracy. Against this damnable doctrine and propaganda, already appearing thinly veiled in the reactionist press of the nation, we warn the youth to watch with care.

Remember, every political advancement wrung from the ruling power by man, has been purchased with a sea of blood, and is a treasure beyond the computation of the human mind. From the dawn of civilization the struggle has gone on and on. It still goes on. It will go on until the Judgment Day.

To preserve what has been brought to you by such titanic contests as history reveals, you must be ever watchful, alert and able to penetrate and encompass the machiavelian moves of powers unfriendly to the theory of republican government. Stop an instant today and meditate and reflect on the spirit of those brave and brainy men who signed the Declaration of Independence — the articles of emancipation of man from ruthless royalty. Forget, for an instant, the mad pursuit of pleasure and excitement and ponder the serious aspect of our early history—and remember always: THE PRICE OF LIBERTY IS ETERNAL VIGILANCE!

FOUR NEW SERIES OF NASH CARS ANNOUNCED

H. E. Verlinde, Nash agent for Washington Township announces four new and luxurious series of motor cars, models of which will soon be on display at his showrooms in Centerville.

In outlining some of the salient features of the new models, Verlinde states that the advantageous Synchro-Safety-Shift transmissions, with spiral second gears, which make second speed operation as silent and pleasant to the ears as high speed travel; completely sound-proof insulated bodies and chassis, and a remarkable new science of "silence engineering" throughout lead the host of mechanical and comfort advancements, to establish new essentials of luxurious motoring, at no price increase, as the feature of major importance in the three straight-eight groups and the six cylinder series.

All four of the new Nash groups—designated as the 990, 980, 970, and 960 Series—feature the safety transmission with its Synchro-Shift principle and spiral, constantly meshed gears. As applied to all of the cars, this advanced unit is a signal contribution to smooth, noiseless and effortless shifting of gears and to positive driving control at all speeds. It combines the synchro-shift principle, which obviates the grating of gear teeth in shifting, with helically cut second speed gears. In addition, it gives the driver the vital advantage of car control at all times by using the braking power of motor compression in traffic emergencies, on slippery streets, and steep downgrades.

The presentation of these three new straight-eight groups and the 960 series brings a fresh and powerful stimulent to the automobile merchandising field at a time when renewed confidence and fundamental business building is vitally needed, in the opinion of experienced Nash Motors Company officials. They believe the new cars will add materially to industrial confidence and to public interest in the manufactured products of the new economic age. The cars represent, they declare, the finest materials and workmanship of the day and offer in-built qualities matched to meet the most rigid standards of value. They are known to be so sturdily built that their ability to stand up and deliver satisfactory service over a long period of time is fully as pronounced as their attractive new lines and unusually good performance.

The factory lists of the new Nash ensembles illustrate the manufacturing achievement, which has added the new essentials of luxury at a price range of $795 to $2,025.

MERCHANTS ARE GIVEN WARNING ABOUT SWINDLE

Name of Catholic Church Is Being Fraudently Promoted

Through the churches of the archdiocese, Archbishop Edward J. Hanna this week issued a warning to merchants to be on the lookout for persons attempting to use the name of the Catholic church in connection with the solicitation of advertising and the publication of printed matter.

He called attention to the fact that the only official organ of the archdiecese is the Monitor published in San Francisco, and said in part:

"Only one agency in the archdiocese of San Francisco has been authorized to publish any form of printed matter in the name of the Catholic church or to solicit advertising for the same with the understanding that it is to benefit the church or any part thereof, directly or indirectly.

"That agency it the Monitor, official organ of the archdiocese and the public is warned that all others attempting to use the name of the church or claiming its approbation are guilty of misrepresentation and of obtaining money under false pretenses."

PROPERTY WILL BE AUCTIONED NEXT TUESDAY

Delinquent Taxes Cause of Public Property Sale In Pleasanton.

Property in the Town of Pleasanton on which the current year's taxes have become delinquent is to be sold at public auction at the Pleasanton town hall next Tuesday morning.

Unless there is a higher bid the town will buy in the property for the amount of the taxes. The property thus sold must come up for sale for five years before it can be finally disposed of and the town collect its money.

Any time during that period the owners may have their property restored by paying the amount of the delinquent taxes plus six per cent interest.

The property to be sold has been advertised for the past three weeks in The Pleasanton Times.

Plans Are Complete For Fourth Of July, Rodeo Celebration

All aboard for the Livermore Chamber of Commerce Fourth of July celebration and rodeo was the by-word in Pleasanton the last week in June as plans for participation by that city were being completed by civic groups and individuals.

To further stimulate interest in the Fourth of July parade the Pleasanton Lions club is contemplating offering a prize of five dollars for the best decorated private automobile in the Pleasanton section.

The Lions club, which is heading the Pleasanton promotion of this community's part in the program, discussed at its meeting on Tuesday evening the advisability of the award.

Pleasanton has been informed that it may enter anything and everything it wishes in the parade and that it will be given an entire section. The Pleasanton section will be formed on one of the longest side streets, it was said.

It was learned this week that there will be all manner of covered wagons entered by the Lions club, the chamber of commerce and individual merchants of Sunol Dublin and Pleasanton. Charles Graham is chairman of the Fourth of July program for Pleasanton. George Roraback represents Sunol.

With the additional interest certain to be aroused should the Lions club offer a prize for the best decorated car in the Pleasanton section, many more entries are looked for in the parade. As the Lions club has taken the initiative in the program it has extended an invitation to every one in the township to join the activities on July 4 in Livermore.

From Livermore itself comes the following word:

Old wagon wheels are creaking while straining oxen tug at the traces. Hoofs click as stage coaches, resurrected from the dim past, drive smartly through the streets. Spurs jingle at the high heels of cowboy boots and huge hats cast a shadow over flaming shirts and flapping chaps.

It's Rodeo time in Livermore and preparations for the state's greatest cowboy show, to be presented on July 3, 4 and 5 are nearing completion.

At the Rodeo grounds the sound of hammer and saw mingles with the hoof beats of racing horses, already preparing for the ten spectacular races which will be run each afternoon. Corrals are being enlarged to handle more bucking horses and steers than have ever been shown at any other rodeo in California.

Sam Garrett, seven times winner of the world's trick and fancy roping championships, and Mabel Strickland, girl champion trick and fancy rider, have already arrived to school their horses for the exhibitions they will give each afternoon. Clay Carr, world's champion cowboy, and Johnny Schneider, champion bull rider, are the first of the cowboys to trail in.

The wildest broncs in the state, carefully selected to obtain the top horses of eight different strings, are rarin' for action. Huge Brahma steers with humps on their shoulders and fantastically twisting horns bellow defiance at the cowboys who will try to ride them.

Sixteen huge oxen are ready to be hooked up to an old logging wagon with solid wooden wheels, hewn from virgin timber before the Civil War. They will drag the four-ton freighter in the pioneer parade on July 4 when eight old stage coaches and more than one hundred covered wagons will be in the line of march.

MORE ON Essanay Building

jumped beyond the "barn stage" and the first real film studio was erected—the Essanay building—together with ten cottages on what is now known as Second street.

And still later, as the industry caught on and developed to such extremes that even larger quarters were needed, the partnership of Spoor and Anderson was dissolved, Spoor purchasing the interests of Anderson for the sum of $1,000,000! In three years, the public craze and interest in moving pictures had fashioned a million dollar industry out of an initial outlay of $100.

Following the dissolution of the partnership between Spoor and Anderson, the studio was closed, and the city of Hollywood began to prosper under the guise of the moving picture center of the world.

Ideal Surroundings

When Spoor and Anderson first entered the moving picture game, "westerners" were the only type of films being made.....in answer to the apparent desires of the public. Just before the war commenced, along in 1913, Spoor conceived the idea to branch out into deeper fields, and the first celluloid semi-serious play was commenced. However, it did not prove successful, and was the breaking point of relations between the two partners.

No finer section in the state could possibly have been chosen for the filming of these outdoor pictures than Niles Canyon—with its picturesque streams, miniature waterfalls, dales, glens, rolling hills, and everything that could possibly be called for in any script dealing with outdoor pictures.

Just a glance over the districts throughout the township readily conveys the impression of old-time "cowboy and injun" pictures. Look at Alvarado, with its board walk, hitching posts and small, narrow sidewalks of planks ....reminiscent of the days of Buffalo Bill!

How many people in the township remember the old wooden church that nestled back in the canyon? And how many recollect when "Bronco Billy" took his gang of cowboys and made a film using that little church in several of the principal scenes? And how many recall "Bronco Billy" and his tally-ho drawn by four horses, and his gun-totin' gang of hard-riding, two-fisted, strong drinking cowboys — the idols of all feminine eyes back in the days when men were men ....and women loved, too? And there's probably plenty of the old-timers who still muse occasionally over the charms and allurements of the "Baby Doll!"

Nowadays the large film corporations maintain corps of field scouts, who do nothing but find ideal locations for different scenes to be shot! Here in Niles and immediate surrounding country is everything necessary for the perfect "outdoor" film. Absolutely everything! Only recently, a movie studio transported quite a large crew of actors and actresses, technicians and paraphernalia to a location between Niles and Pleasanton— literally transported them all a distance of 400 miles. Four or five trips like that and enough money will have been spent to purchase the Essanay building — constructed and adapted specifically for use as a movie studio—to establish and maintain a branch studio right here in Niles....in the center of the most ideal conditions in every photographic and sound respect.

Remember Charlie Chaplin's first $2,000 contract? Remember Ben Turpin worrying where he could obtain sufficient money to effect an optical alignment—in the days when his eyes were not his fortune? Remember "Bronco Billy"— the actor, director, cameraman, author, technician and advisor, not to mention film cutter? Pleasant memories of happy days!

Perhaps history will repeat itself in the future, and one of the movie studios will see the wisdom of taking advantage of the beauties of nature that are to be found throughout Washington township.

cause of death Lynn, who weighed 385 pounds, was struck by a car driven by Haines, on East 14th street, San Leandro, in front of the Cherry festival grounds, the night of June 1. He sustained the fracture of one ankle and one thumb. Hospital doctors who testified at the inquest, could not definitely state the cause of Lynn's death, beyond saying that his extreme obesity, heart disease and pneumonia probably contributed. Lynn had lived at the hospital for about five years.

Officer Harry Hendricks, of the state traffic patrol, investigated the accident, arriving on the scene about twenty minutes after it occurred.
